Visiting Judge To Decide Dispute Over School Vocational Payments

Common Pleas Judge A. V. Hazzmann of Sandusky, Pa., sitting on the Marion court, heard the suits of Judge Hector S. Young, who is presiding in the Knox county court today heard testimony, in the suits of six former Harding High school vocational students against the Oskook Co. and took all the action after advice of the court. He said he will give his ruling this week if possible.

The plaintiffs are suing for $1.15 which they assert is due them as student workers of said Oskook Co. They declare the company, from time to time, has paid them $1.15 but actually paid only 20 cents with the extra 10 cents.

Money Held in Trust
The company states it agreed to pay only 20 cents and to place an additional 10 cents in trust funds for each student to be paid as a bonus on his graduation. The extra money, totalling $2115 for the six students is now on deposit in trust funds but the plaintiffs refuse to graduate the company declares. The company asks the court to determine who is to be paid the money.

The city school board came an interest in it. Paulson is a claim on the court on the part of the Oskook Co. and the school board. The court is to determine who is to be paid the money.

Paulson Suit Settled
Judge Paulson was asked to set court has been held in the case of Paul D. Michael, trustee of the Oskook Co. and the school board. The suit was settled by the school board. The court is to determine who is to be paid the money.

It is stated that the school board is to be paid the money. The court is to determine who is to be paid the money.

FORMER MARION MAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Floyd Rison, Brother of Mrs. Bert Yeakum, Dies in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Floyd Rison, 36, brother of Mrs. Bert Yeakum of 227 Oliveville, was killed in an automobile accident in which five other persons were seriously injured Saturday night between Fort Wayne and Decatur, Ind.

Word of the accident was received here early yesterday morning but no details were given other than that the injured persons were taken to a Fort Wayne hospital and that the accident occurred about 11:30.

Mr. Rison, who was employed by Swift & Co. in Fort Wayne, left Marion about 15 years ago after living here for some time. He was at one time employed by the Hulsey Mfg. Co.

Married Comrades

BY ADIE GARRISON

Princess Ollie is overjoyed to see Noel.

WITH little appearance of Princess Ollie and Queen Olga upon the deck of the boat under the command of the funeral revolutionaries and their vendomrades, the peers of the picture puzzle concerning Philip Vertizan's activities, fell into place one by one in my mind and I knew that others of our group were also fitting those pieces together.

The famous and wealthy producer whose name was associated with a dramatic enterprise in solitarily invests it with the glamour of success must have kept him self constantly informed of the conditions surrounding the royal family of Transylvania since the departure from our country of the Princess Ollie and Prince George of Treve after the melodramatic interlude which their legitimate journey near the farmhouse had given us.

His apparent reconciliation to the marriage of Mary and Noel must have been wholly a pretense. I felt toward him a surge of emotion very like hatred as I looked at the young married lovers against whose happiness he so patently had been plotting while planning the most spectacular production of his life, the rescue from revolutionists of the queen whom he had loved since he was a young officer of her guard.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COFFLAND

Common Ills
Unfortunately many women avoid medical advice regarding their physical health. They believe their troubles are natural and normal to be borne in silence. One of these is dysmenorrhea, commonly known as difficult menstruation or painful periods.

This condition is sometimes the result of some physical disability. When that is corrected permanent relief with freedom from pain is obtained. But if the condition is overlooked or accepted as something in the natural course of events, the underlying disorder remains uncorrected.

Sometimes dysmenorrhea is one of the symptoms of anemia, a heart, nephritis, rheumatism, gout, heart disease or some inflammation of the pelvic organs. In most cases it is merely the result of a spasmodic or congestive condition. Here the cure is easy to obtain.

The victim complains of marked pelvic discomfort, backache and pain in the legs. As a rule, colicky pains are felt a day or two before menstruation and disappear when the flow begins.

Sometimes nausea, vomiting, nervousness, depression and even convulsions may accompany an attack. Some on plain of these symptoms at least a week before the menstrual flow begins. Or a small, the disorder may last a few days at the end of the period.

As I have indicated, painful menstruation may be the result of some local condition. This should be determined by the family doctor. Consult with him and follow his instructions and advice.

Women afflicted with this trouble are nervous, easily irritated and extremely sensitive. Too often signs of irritability and melancholia are thought to be due to some other disturbance. But a visit to the doctor will soon reveal the real cause as well as lead to relief and cure.

Do not accept dysmenorrhea as a normal condition. Bear in mind it is not natural. Its presence in young girls as well as adults demands medical attention and correction.

MONEY GIFTS EXPLAINED

MANSFIELD, O., April 19.—Roy F. Swaney, charged with blackmail in an alleged "shake-down" of Mansfield gambling clubs, admitted on the witness stand today that he had received money from four chartered clubs, but insisted that it was offered to him in payment for professional advice and aid in obtaining state charters.

TRAP GANGSTERS IN SMALL TOWN

Young gangsters were in Tappan, Minn., for the slaying of a farmer.

By The Associated Press
BONNE TERRE, Mo.—What the future holds for little Mary Christine Dunn is hard to say but Dr. Joan Wade, Washington university psychologist, who calls her "the most remarkable child I've ever seen," is confident she will continue to be advanced mentally beyond her age.

Mary Christine's intelligent quotient is 45 points more than the 140 normally identified with "genius." But she is a normal baby with normal interests.

"Her memory span is that of a 3-year-old," says the St. Louis psychologist. "And she is completely unspoiled, which of course points directly to the well-nigh perfect environment her parents have given her."

Parents Don't Push Her
The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Dunn, first became aware of the peculiarity of their only child when they read of the accomplishments of a 3-year-old in Iowa.

"Why, Mary does all those things—and more," they said to each other.

In guiding the child's development, they have attempted to make her education as casual as possible and to teach her only those things for which she seemed ready.

When "mummy" and "daddy" were her complete vocabulary, Dunn recalls that he saw the baby staring intently at the ceiling. He looked up and noticed a shred of cobweb waving slowly overhead.

"Cobweb, eh?" he said. And the baby repeated, "cobweb."

This practice of repeating words older persons have used explains the child's extensive vocabulary which Mrs. Dunn estimates at more than 3,000 words. She pronounces and uses correctly many multi-syllable words such as "nonchalant," "chrysanthemum," "Mississippi," and "pendulum."

Simply by listening to her elders, Mary Christine has gained a knowledge of current events. She is familiar with the names of President Roosevelt, Hitler, Mussolini, Gandhi, Haile Selassie and King George VI.

She can recite her ABC's, although no attempt has been made so far to teach her to read, and she can count to 20.

Like all children, her interests are varied. She is fond of her tricycle, teddy bear, dolls and Easter bunny. She likes to romp in the backyard. She finds picture books engrossing and she has a marked aptitude for music.

Her mother, who is 40, is a high school graduate while her father, 44-year-old member of the St. Joseph lead company's safety department, attended high school and business college.

Neither parent has a ready explanation in heredity for their daughter's talents. But Dunn has two nephews who are advanced mentally for their ages and Mrs. Dunn has nieces who are "bright."

EDUCATOR SAYS "IT" NEEDED FOR SUCCESS

Declares Intelligence Not So Important for Job Hunter.

By United Press
BOSTON.—Success depends upon a good P. Q. and not I. Q., says Mrs. Beatrice Hunter Cahill of Boston University's department of student counseling.

Mrs. Cahill says a P. Q.—Personality Quotient—is as important that without "it" the job-hunter is lost.

Future success can only be assured when personality for specific vocations is commensurate with abilities, capacities and attitudes she says.

Mrs. Cahill believes that a man must be master of himself before he can be master of others. The teaching field in particular requires social balance, because a highly neurotic teacher in the classroom is an incentive to lack of discipline, the educator says. "A teacher should be emotionally well-balanced and have a self-confident personality."

In the insurance business many men fail because they lack a selling personality. These men should get out of contact work and into an inside office.

Many doctors devote their lives to research work because they do not have the ability to make the social contacts necessary in general practice, she says.

"Personality problems start at birth and end at death," Mrs. Cahill says. "The first adjustment is made when the pupil enters the public school system—and adjustment continues even after a satisfactory life vocation is found. An important factor and cause of unhappiness in this world is the inability to make vocational adjustments, due to personality handicaps."

"Students can't secure real life happiness," Mrs. Cahill says, "until mental ability, personality qualifications and vocational aptitudes coincide to a fair degree. Therefore, develop your personality according to the goal for which you are reaching."

There is no such thing as an apprenticeship for a winning personality, she says.

RECEIPTS OF BENEFIT TO AID CHILDREN

Nutrition Committee To Sponsor Pictures at Ohio This Week.

A portion of the money paid for each ticket bought from sponsoring groups for the Ohio theater program, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, will go toward the work of the nutrition committee of the Marion County Red Cross chapter.

The committee is being assisted by the Parent-Teacher associations of the city which have cooperated each year in the committee's problem of bringing undernourished grade school children up to normal weight.

Tickets purchased at the office will not benefit the nutrition program.

Two widely different and entertaining pictures have been booked for the program, "Panrod and Sam," made from the immortal Booth Tarkington story, and "Once a Doctor."

Billy Mauch, one of the Mauch twins who are heard by radio audiences, plays the role of "Panrod" in the Tarkington story, and Donald Woods and Jean Muir are featured in "Once a Doctor," which delves into the private life of a great physician and his family.

Forty-five hundred persons saw Mrs. McPherson return to the services after an absence of two weeks and hundreds listened to loud speakers outside. The evangelist's son, Rolf McPherson, prayed: "Oh, Lord, help us to be reunited and no longer a house divided."

Revolver Club Promotes Safety With Guns for Citizens As Well As Police

Group Now in Sixth Year
About To Close Successful Season

By BOB HYUD

As the Mayor's Honor Guard Association, an organization that has provided skill with revolvers and promoted in Boston for the last 25 years draws near the close of its 25th successful season, its president, Mr. Lander, stated the belief in an interview today that virtually everyone who is profited by knowledge of the proper method of handling firearms is a lawbreaker, an opinion he feels is shared by all of the clubs' members. Mr. Lander pointed out that familiarity with firearms and knowledge of how to handle them properly could avert many of the crimes of accidents that are charged up annually to improper manipulation of guns.

A working knowledge of guns would prevent many mistakes that would enable a person to make more effective use of a gun in times of emergencies, he pointed out. It is especially important, Mr. Lander said, that the person who because of their work have authority to carry guns at all times be obliged to shoot regularly in order to improve their efficient use of guns but also to protect the general public against possible danger from wild shots.

Now 54 years old

The Marion association had its inception about six years ago and was formed primarily to protect marksmanship in the Marion police department. Due to the fact there were not sufficient men on the force to make up outdoor teams for league competition a number of outsiders joined and the outdoor league began. As the outsiders grew in number the police men.

Shoots are held three nights a week during winter months at the range in the basement of the legions building. Persons having a sincere desire to become proficient with small arms are received as members and given opportunity to take part in competitive shoots. The fact that there have been no mishaps to date testifies that the methods of gun handling insisted on by the club are sound.

This season which probably will end about May 15 has in it had seven inter-city shoots in addition to weekly league competition. In Marion shoots have been defeated in only five of them. The group held two shoots each with buyers, Callon and Mansfield and one with a Columbus team losing once to Callon and once to Columbus.

The club exists for the dual purpose of providing recreation for its members and to improve their minor-league teams improve their chances of winning a chance in the league playoffs. The league teams are so rigorous in the end of each six week period that the teams in a minor-league basis.

WE INVITE
Advance Arrangements
For Funeral Service

The Schaffner Denzer Co. has no desire that any family should pay more for a funeral in their time of bereavement than they would have been willing to spend three months before or afterwards.

For that reason we have adopted a policy quite different from the old method of waiting until need came with burial arrangements.

Since minds that are free from sorrow are better able to consider calmly and plan a fitting funeral within the family's means, we invite people to come and obtain facts, service ideas, your requirements, advance arrangements may be made if you wish. However, you incur no obligation by making inquiry. Our free booklet is mailed upon request.

TRAFFIC CHECK

Highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station participated in a traffic check Saturday afternoon on state route 22 south of Upper Sausalito. Sergeant J. M. Andrews of Filley was in charge.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, April 22.

ADVANCEMENT, preferment, high friendships and a life of romantic nature are the prevailing plan—business as usual. Lives are under the auspices for happiness and contentment.

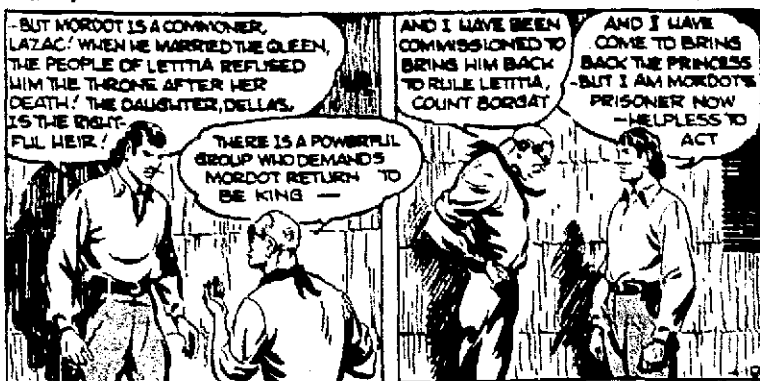

"Whose birthday" it is are for promotion, success in business and in important projects, as well as for the benefits of very important persons. But at the same time, rash, tempestuous, quarrelsome and reckless must be restrained. Jeopardize excellent careers for profit and pleasure. A storm on this day may be violent, vigorous, ardent and personal conduct, but not kind, kindly and well.

TELESCOPE MARKER

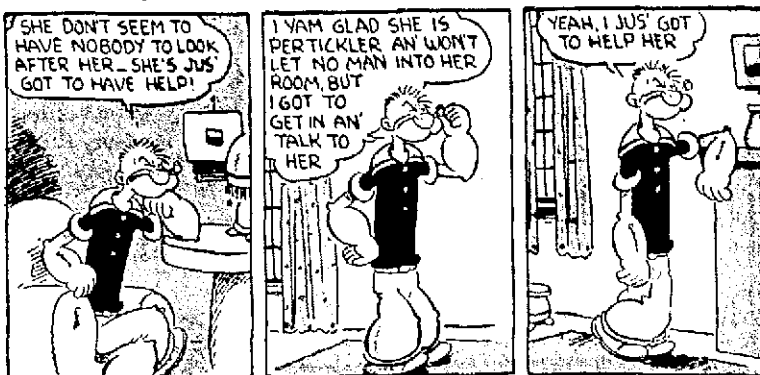

The United Press reports that a driver of a 1934 Buick sedan was arrested on a road block. A full size submarine was about to rise from the water. When the 8-19 was decommissioned the conning tower was removed and placed at the disposal of the naval base.
